

Research, Conservation and Partnership in the Cairngorms

A FREE morning of short talks from the Royal Botanic Garden Edinburgh about ongoing work in Cairngorms National Park

Join us on Thursday, 23rd March 2017, 9.30 to 12.30 at the Grant Arms Hotel, Granttown-on-Spey Refreshments provided.

PROGRAMME

9.30 for 10.00 start

10.00-10:15: The Increasing Biodiversity Importance of the Cairngorms – Chris Ellis

10:15-10:30: A Voyage into the Unknown: The Discovery and Protection of Arctic/Alpine Lichens – Rebecca Yahr

10:30-10:45: Monitoring Change: What's the Future for Snowbed Bryophytes? – Neil Bell

10:45-11:00: Restoring Threatened Species: Genetics, Translocations and Land Management for Cicerbita and Woodsia – Aline Finger and Natacha Frachon

11:15-12:30: Questions, Coffee and Interactive session with Specimens/Photos.

Please contact Penny Lawson to book a place.

pennylawson@cairngorms.co.uk 01479 870519

Royal
Botanic Garden
Edinburgh

Scottish Natural Heritage
Dualchas Nàdair na h-Alba
All of nature for all of Scotland
Nàdar air fad airson Alba air fad

Cairngorms
NATIONAL PARK