

Glen Tanar NNR, Aboyne

Discover the breathtaking wildness of Glen Tanar National Nature Reserve in the Cairngorms National Park and explore the mountains, rivers and moorland. With impressive ancient Caledonian pine forests and oakwoods that gradually thin into vast hillsides of heather, this glen near Aboyne has lots to offer.

Giving back to the community

Four young local men came to Glen Tanar National Nature Reserve on a community service project and found it to be a life-changing experience thanks to practical conservation work on the Glen Tanar Estate.

The Glen Tanar rangers took these young men on board and showed them how rewarding helping people and the environment could be. Starting with simple jobs, such as cutting and stacking firewood for the visitor centre stoves, the men quickly moved onto learning new skills including fencing, protecting trees from deer and the importance of habitats for wildlife.

At the end of their time at Glen Tanar, the men felt that they had truly benefited from their experience. The initial culture shock of working in the outdoors was so different to their daily lives that they left the programme feeling inspired and motivated.

"The nature and landscape were enough to make me feel motivated about my daily life"

Top things to do

Wildlife watching

Glen Tanar NNR has excellent examples of ancient pine forests, which provide a home to some of Scotland's most endangered species, including the Scottish crossbill, capercaillie and red squirrel. Red and roe deer are frequently seen and birds of prey soar overhead. Guided Land Rover tours can be booked at the Estate Office.

Historic Aboyne

Aboyne in Royal Deeside dates back to the 17th century, although there has been a castle here since the 13th century. Nearby Craigievar Castle is a baronial castle which has Jacobean artwork and furniture and a delightful park with trails. Disabled parking is available and assistance dogs are welcome in the castle.

Conservation volunteering

If you would like to be involved in hands-on practical conservation activities, the Ranger Service with the John Muir Trust hold regular monthly sessions. By prior arrangement, they can also organise wildlife monitoring where you can learn how to sample and identify species in river, pond and woodland habitats.
