Kincraig

During the public engagement process it was found that there is a need for better promotion of routes in the area and maintenance of routes was also a concern. There was some confusion and concern over the access around the Brae and new housing.

The most popular paths identified were predominantly on the Kincraig side of the river, the walk along the river to Speybank (72% of respondents), the woods to the south of the village (72% of respondents) and the walks along Loch Insh (61% of respondents). Across the river the routes in Inshriach Forest proved popular (61% of respondents) as well as the walk up the river to Feshiebridge (55% of respondents).

Low-level walking was by far the most popular activity in the area followed by hill walking and cycling on-road. Most people doing activities did so to keep fit and healthy and equally to enjoy the countryside and no one did so to get to work or school. There was a reasonably high demand for better opportunities for low level walking and for off-road cycling and also for walking with a pushchair.
