Dear Sir or Madams,

Can I first say I went online to your website <https://cairngorms.co.uk/consultation/proposed-plan/> and found it very difficult to get specific information as regards your plans – and I am generally very good online.

However I am writing in regards to above proposal. I grew up in Glen Tilt and am a frequent visitor to the area to see family & friends.

While I agree that there should be affordable new housing in the area I do not think that this is an appropriate site. It is not actually in the village & would probably appeal more to out-of-towners, to which any new housing should not be aimed. New housing should be aimed at local people who have problems competing on rural wages against holiday home buyers and commuters.

A site within the actual village environs would be much more appropriate. It would keep the costs down as the utilities would be available, which they will not be on the H2 site. Thus assisting in the affordable aspirations of any housing developments..

Also the H2 site is an area of some beauty which should not be spoiled by housing when there are other more appropriate sites available.

I would appreciate it if you could keep me informed of any progress on these developments or provide me with a direct link by which I could keep myself informed.

Regards
